OF THE

Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind

To His Excellency,
GEORGE A. CARLSON,
Governor of Colorado.

Dear Sir,—Hitherto this board of trustees has been required by law to make a biennial report for the two years ending November 30 preceding the meeting of the Legislature. An act passed at the last session of the General Assembly calls for an annual report and changes the time to July 1 covering the twelve months ending June 30. This change meets with our approval since it sets out each school year clean cut and distinct without the overlapping of enrollment heretofore unavoidable.

Our last report was made in December, 1914, for the two years ending November 30, 1914. This, therefore, will cover the period from that date to July 1, 1916, we having taken the liberty of including the fraction of a year rather than make a separate report.

The appointments to the board of trustees have been Dr. Hubert Work of Pueblo, to succeed Mr. George Dunbaugh of the same city, and Mr. J. F. Humphrey of Colorado Springs, to succeed himself, the time of both these gentlemen having expired.

As has been the custom of your board, the needs of the school were set forth in detail in our last report, the total amounting to \$122,400. Of these items asked for the Legislature provided for those absolutely indispensable to the extent of \$16,200 and added $2\frac{3}{4}$ hundredths of a mill to the levy for maintenance, support and additional buildings and improvements, which will in time bring about the end desired.

One of the needs supplied was a new heating plant consisting of three 150-horsepower boilers to take the place of three of eighty-horsepower, which had been in service more than twenty-five years. These new boilers have every appliance for convenience and safety, two of them doing the work in ordinary winter weather. They are suspended from I-beams and are encased in steel with asbestos and brick lining, giving absolute immunity from unsightly cracking and the escape of smoke and gas so common in ordinary setting.

Another item provided for was a new slate roof on the school building. Following the precedent set in the erection of the last two buildings it was specified that the slate should be full quarter-inch thick and of the toughest kind to be had. When this roof was about one-third in place, the eastern portion of the city of Colorado Springs was visited by the severest hailstorm known to the oldest inhabitant, and the school got the full force of it. Every shingle roof on the place was badly damaged, most of them having to be replaced, while on the two buildings last erected, covered with slate, only twenty-six slates were broken and none of these in such manner as to allow leakage. The renewal of roofs and repairs to ceilings and walls from the steady downpour of rain, which continued for two weeks, cost the school over $5,000, fully demonstrating the wisdom of using only the best material in roofing state buildings.

It has been the policy of your board to provide the best in the way of equipment that the finances would allow and to keep the school as up-to-date as possible. The methods of teaching in both the department for the blind and that for the deaf are those that have obtained for some years, with such modifications and innovations as have seemed to us to be real improvements. In the matter of print for the blind, the school has stood ready to accept any that might bid fair to become universal in English-speaking countries. In the matter of methods in the education of the deaf, we have been conservative, with due consideration of all the conditions and with the greatest good to the greatest number as the object sought.

As has been stated in many of our reports, the greatest need of the school in its trades teaching has been modern equipment. We have set forth the impossibility of turning out even first-class apprentices without at least a few pieces of up-to-date machinery. The first use of our increased income will be to so improve the shops and laundry that the pupils may get in them such training as will enable them to get work on leaving school.

The enrollment for the session of 1914-15 was 200, 162 deaf and 38 blind; for the session of 1915-16 was 209, 165 deaf and 44 blind. Deafness in children is undoubtedly diminishing in proportion to the population, but the rate of decrease is small. Blindness, on the other hand, is certainly decreasing quite appreciably, due, partly at least, to the campaign of prevention and the prompt treatment of ophthalmia neonatorum, which has in the past proven so prolific a cause of blindness in childhood. We would recommend legislative action, requiring the use of a proper prophylactic in all cases of childbirth in our own state.

In accordance with our conviction that all state educational institutions should present a creditable appearance and be models of efficiency, not only for the sake of the students attending them but also for the effect upon the people of the community and the state, the buildings and equipment are in a high state of repair. With the exception of the old main building, which should be replaced, we can safely affirm that all the buildings are in better condition today than when they came from the hands of the contractor from ten to twenty-six years ago.

Our needs in the way of buildings are a dormitory for the larger boys, a gymnasium for which we have been asking twenty-seven years, the enlargement of the girls' hall and a modern dining room and kitchen, with storerooms, etc., and rooms for the female help.

We trust you may find the time to read carefully the accompanying reports, which give the history of the last nineteen months, and show fully the aims and purposes of the school. We thank you for your personal visits and your abiding interest in our work.

In behalf of the board of trustees, respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH F. HUMPHREY,

President.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the Board of Trustees of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind:

In making the usual biennial report, it has been the custom to enumerate all the pupils present during the two years, which really included parts of three sessions, the time of reporting being December 1. This resulted in some ambiguity as to attendance, and also made it rather difficult to respond to requests for data from the United States Commission of Education and others properly seeking such information. For these and other reasons we welcome the change to annual reports on July 1.

ATTENDANCE.

The average attendance for 1914-15 was 193; for 1915-16, 195. While there will undoubtedly be some increase in the numbers of pupils eligible to attend school as the population of the state increases, we are quite sure, and very grateful, that neither deafness nor blindness is increasing directly in proportion to the growth of the population of the country. The attention given to prevention, the better education in the care of the delicate organs of sight and hearing and the increased skill of the medical practitioner, both general and special, have all conspired to reduce the number permanently affected by accident or disease. The appendix submitted herewith gives some interesting data concerning causes of deafness, etc.

HEALTH

The wave of bronchitis and grippe that passed over the country last fall struck the school unusually hard, taking away two of our most delicate children, Esther Drake, aged 11, and Clesson Rosebrook, aged 16. Esther was taken ill at her home, where she was spending the week-end, and was in a state of collapse when brought to the school hospital. Clesson's case, too, was violent from the start, and, while both had every care that could be given, it was of no avail. There were more than one hundred cases in all, including teachers and other employees, and at times we were greatly inconvenienced. But the recoveries were all complete with the two exceptions noted above. That our children are subnormal physically, a consequence of the disease that caused their deficiency, makes it all the more imperative that they should have the best of food and care during their stay at school and that they should be taught the value of strict adherence to hygienic laws in their home life.

CHANGES

Misses Belle Williams, Belle Loggins and Frances Campbell, literary teachers in the deaf department, resigned at the close of the session ending June, 1915, the first two to be married, the last on account of eye trouble that had been causing her some inconvenience. Miss Alice Alcorn of the Georgia school, Miss Evelyn Lynes of the Oklahoma school and Mrs. Mabel Mayer were appointed to fill the vacancies. In the domestic department Miss Edna Helmick, assistant supervisor of the boys, left to take charge of a home of her own, her place being taken by Miss Helen Wisley of New York City. Mr. W. H. Angood took the place of Mr. R. L. Henderson, the latter leaving because of ill health. Mr. Earl Gress was appointed foreman of the grounds in the place of Mr. Don Harris, who went into the dairy business for himself.

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

If any feature of the schoolroom work has been different from that of previous years, it is in the wider departure from slavish adherence to text books and the greater use of the live material so abundantly about us. There has been a marked growth of interest in the practical on the part of both teachers and pupils, which has been good to see.

There is no question that the blind pupils of the Colorado school are as independent as those of any school in the country. They get about on the school grounds and in town, without assistance, in a way that is surprising even to those accustomed to what blind people can do, and those that stay with us long enough to complete the course are almost all of them self-supporting. The graduates from our high school are able to take up college work and give a good account of themselves. One of our blind students graduated in June from the University of Oregon state with the degrees of A. B., B. D.

Another who left us June a year ago is in the law department of the University of Southern California, and is one of the best in his class. Two members of last year's class entered Galludet College for the Deaf at Washington, D. C., bringing our number there up to four, and two of the present year's class expect to go in September.

The question of methods in the department of the deaf is one to which the best people in the profession are giving serious thought. Of the 11,236 pupils in the sixty-four state schools, 9,560 in fifty-one schools are taught by the combined system which seeks to make use of any and all methods to fit the needs of the individual child. Practically all of these recognize the value of the persistent use of English in school and out and try to secure the maximum amount of its use, spelled, written or spoken. They hold to the opinion that many deaf children can be taught successfully to read the lips and to speak intelligibly to those accustomed to their voices, but that there are some of fair mentality for whom such instruction is a waste of valuable time that might better be spent in the acquisition of language through silent methods. Those who would make use of only the pure oral method claim that the child who cannot be taught by that method cannot be taught by any method, and has no place in the schoolroom. Fortunately, for the most part, the controversy is a friendly one and the participants are honest, conscientious men and women, working hard to solve the problem in the best interests of the deaf.

Other questions demanding consideration are the relative values of the day school for the deaf and the institution and the possibility of educating a considerable number of both the deaf and the blind in the regular school for the normal child. These are all interesting questions which should receive the attention their importance deserves. It would take too long to argue their merits here, and we are not prepared to settle any one of them offhand. But we venture to assert that in no other lines of teaching do "circumstances alter cases" to so great an extent. My own belief is that time will bring about a much greater differentiation than now exists, and also that the public will stand for the greater expenditure which this will likely involve. Individual instruction is effective, but it is also costly.

INDUSTRIAL WORK

Our blind pupils have a course in manual training, beginning with raffia, reed and bead work, and later take up some trade by which it is hoped they may make their living. The boys find piano tuning the most lucrative, and most of them try to learn it. Others get a working knowledge of broom-making and almost all try their hands at chair-caning, hammock tying, rug weaving and mattress repairing. Some of the blind girls become expert in mending, darning, crocheting, the use of the sewing machine and cooking.

The trades for the deaf boys have been barbering, carpentry, printing, shoe-making, painting, elementary gardening and floriculture. The girls learn to cook, iron, sew, darn and do general housework. All the older pupils, both deaf and blind, have taken the greatest interest in poultry-raising, which they have found both enjoyable and profitable. The school claims to have done more in this last line of work, and to have done it better, from an educational standpoint, than any school in the country.

The work of the trades has not been entirely satisfactory for two reasons—the lack of time and the dearth of modern machinery in the shops. This last will soon no longer exist, as the action of the last Legislature will enable you to fit up all departments with up-to-date appliances.

The extension of the time devoted to the trade work is not so easily decided upon. The blind must get their knowledge through their finger-tips—a long, tedious process. The deaf have no language upon entering school, and to acquire even a limited use of it is a constant struggle to the end of the course. Without language, there is no hope of the deaf student adding to his knowledge after leaving school, therefore every effort must be made to give him this medium. It is hardly possible to give a handicapped boy an education and a trade at the same time within the school age limit. It would seem, therefore, that the best the school can do is to turn out fair apprentices or to give an additional year or two to teaching the trade after the academic course is completed.

CALIFORNIA CONVENTION

A joint meeting of the American Instructors of the Blind and the American Workers for the Blind was held at the California School for the Blind at Berkeley last summer. Numerous questions relating to the welfare of the blind, pupil and adult, were taken up, but by far the most important was that of types. The uniform type committee for the workers, after ten years spent in investigating the respective merits of the two systems now in use—New York Point and Braille—made a report in favor of what was called the "Standard Dot System," the basis of which was the English Braille alphabet with some modifications and an entirely new system of contractions. The association voted to experiment with the system during the school session 1915-16 and to report at the convention to be held at Halifax in July of this year. The comments on the experiments have not been favorable, so as yet there is little likelihood of an agreement upon one system. There is no question as to the desirability of uniformity in all English-speaking countries, and it is devoutly to be hoped that all factions may get together before very long.

IMPROVEMENTS

No one improvement of late years has been so appreciated by the whole school family as the new heating plant provided for by the last Legislature. For the first time in years every part of all the buildings was warm in the coldest weather, and yet at no time were all three of the boilers in use.

The new slate roof on the school building is also a great comfort, the old roof having been in a leaky condition for the last four years, requiring constant attention and expenditure.

The hospital for contagious diseases has been finished after six years of weary waiting.

Two new all-metal washers and a dry room tumbler were put in place just in time to prevent our having to shut down the laundry.

The disastrous hailstorm spoken of in the President's report occurred on July 18, 1915. All the shingle roofs on the place were damaged beyond repair, the tin in the valleys and gutters being battered and broken until that, too, had to be renewed. Shingle roofs are a constant menace because of their susceptibility to fire, and the plan of the board to gradually replace the shingles with slate on the larger living buildings was a wise one. However, there was no time to wait for slate, as there was no way to protect the interiors of the buildings from the persistent downpour of rain and, as the next best thing, new valleys and gutters of the best tin, painted well, were put in and the best five-to-two cedar shingles were put on by as large a force of carpenters as we could secure. With two good coats of the best graphite and oil, these should last twenty-five years at least, barring record-breaking hailstorms. The damage done to roofs, ceilings, glass and exposed wooden and metal surfaces ran up into thousands of dollars of immediate outlay. The garden, which was unusually fine, was completely destroyed, and the trees so injured that they are now full of dead branches, some of them dying outright. Fortunately, the greenhouses were screened and escaped with slight damage.

The school building has been gone over completely inside and out, the walls being tinted with the colors found best for the eye of the student, and the woodwork painted with two coats of the best lead and oil. The shop building and Humphrey Hall have been re-tinted and more lockers have been added to the latter, giving each child a place for all his belongings. All the iron beds have been put in perfect repair and a number of new ones added. The old fibre mattresses are being gradually replaced by felted ones of excellent quality, and good, warm blankets are used in place of the old unsightly comforters. In short, as the itemized statement of expenses shows, there has been a steady improvement in the buildings and furnishings, which the board should continue as being cheapest in the end.

NEEDS

Following out the plan outlined years ago a fireproof building should be erected for the older boys, and after that a gymnasium, so located that it can be used for all the pupils of both sexes. When these are built the old main building should give way to one containing a modern kitchen, refrigerating plant, store-room and dining rooms enough to accommodate the various groups into which the school family should be divided. In the meantime the grounds should be properly graded and planted so as to remove from the school that air of incompleteness that now characterizes it. The two hundred-acre ranch, where the dairy herd is located, is susceptible of considerable improvement and will certainly in time prove one of the best assets of the school.

Under the wise provision made for the school by the last Legislature, all these improvements can be made within comparatively few years without any further direct appeal for funds. Colorado demands only the best, and there is no reason why your school should not measure up to her standard.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The school is under renewed obligations to Colorado College, the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations, the Colorado Springs Musical Club, the Cheyenne Canon and Seven Falls Development Company and to numerous private individuals for courtesies that added infinitely to the pleasure of our children. The solicitous care with which we are treated by the employes of the street railway, the parks and the city could not be purchased with money.

CONCLUSION

In closing this, let me commend to you a corps of loyal industrious workers whose interest is not wholly confined to drawing their monthly salaries.

Very respectfully yours,

W. K. ARGO,
Superintendent.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT

To the Board of Trustees of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind:

My report herewith submitted as to the health of your institution I must admit is not so favorable as in previous years. There have been, during the past two years, more acute cases of illness and two deaths from septic pneumonia. During the fall of 1915 there was an epidemic of la grippe with, however, no deaths or unfavorable results. The two deaths from pneumonia occurred in a girl 11 years of age and a boy of 16—both anemic and both run down and in poor health to start with, to withstand such a violent illness. There was one operation for appendicitis in May of the present year—complete recovery. Other than these cases enumerated above the health of the institution has been good and above the average.

The hospital annex has been completed. The plumbing and sanitary conditions excellent in all buildings. The only thing to be desired, and which I again urge as of the greatest importance and a necessity, is a first-class gymnasium, which I trust will soon be built and which will, in my opinion, prove a great asset to the health of the institution.

B. P. ANDERSON, M. D.

OCULIST AND AURIST'S REPORT

To the Board of Trustees of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind:

The improvement noted in my last report for this department has been continued, and that there have been no serious accident cases has been a source of gratification.

Such pupils as needed glasses have been refracted and glasses supplied.

Several minor operations have been performed with satisfactory results.

E. M. MARBOURG, M. D.,
Oculist and Aurist.

MUSIC DIRECTOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Trustees of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind:

Gentlemen,—Complying with your request, I beg leave to submit the following report of the Music Department:

NUMBER OF PUPILS IN THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Studying piano	33
Vocal work in choir.....	13
Violin	8
Organ	3
Harmony	3
Piano tuning	2
Cornet	2
Sighted notation	3

I take the liberty of repeating my suggestion made in the last report in regard to a permanent writer of embossed music. Such an assistant would enable the school to furnish any and all of our graduates with such music as they might need in teaching. You will realize that the learning of new music is the great problem of the blind teacher of the sighted. I am satisfied that many more of our children would attempt to teach had they this additional help.

Very respectfully,

A. L. BOHRER,
 Director of Music.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT OF EMBOSSED LIBRARY

To the Board of Trustees of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind:

Complying with your request, I beg leave to submit the following report of the embossed library for the two years just past:

As I have stated in a former report, the embossed library lends itself to the service of two classes of readers: (1) pupils in the School who look to the library to furnish books for texts and for collateral study and reading; and (2) readers outside of the School—adult blind of the state or former students here—who depend upon the library for their study and literary entertainment.

The library catalog lists a total of 1,498 embossed books at the service of the patrons of the library. Of this number 1,149 are printed in New York Point, showing the addition of 168 new books of this print which had been ordered at the time of the previous report. The number of Braille books now is 54, 14 text books having been disposed of to the California school. The number of volumes of Line remains the same, 367. The number given as the total also includes 18 volumes of Standard Dot, which were given to the library for the use of the pupils. About half the number of books are texts for school work. Most of the other half are of a historical and standard literary character and are widely read by both pupils and outside readers.

Those in charge of the library have good cause for gratification on the excellent service rendered by it. The children of the school manifest an unusual interest in outside reading, and the increased number of books read by them during the period just closed indicates that the interest is growing. Several of the younger set are devouring the library as fast as their mental capacities will permit. As for our outside friends, frequent letters show that some of them live their lives with our books.

The circulation record of the library shows that during the last two-year period forty-nine readers read 472 books, compared with 342 books read by sixty-six readers during the preceding period of two years. It is of interest to note that the number of readers is much smaller and the number of books read much larger than before. The 168 new volumes added to the library recently probably furnish the stimulation, inasmuch as they have been in the hands of some one or other of our readers all the time.

The principal need of the library is beyond the power of our Board to satisfy. It is that a wider selection of books be printed in embossed type. That is a matter for publishers. At present I can only recommend that we supply ourselves with the best and the most we can of what the publishers make available. In service and satisfaction our last order of new books has paid for itself many times over, and the new good reading we can put into the hands of our students will profit us likewise.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY L. BLACK,
Librarian.

LIBRARY FUND.

This fund consists of $10,000 donated by Gen. William J. Palmer, and is at present invested in lots 6, 7 and 8, block 4, Bristol Heights Addition. The rental obtained from the three residences, less the cost of repairs, is set apart for the purchase of reading matter for both departments of the school. According to the conditions of the gift, these properties can be used for no other purpose unless provision be made by the state for the investment of an equal amount in approved securities for the use of the fund.

With the consent of the donor, the income from the fund up to November 30, 1905, was used for current expenses, to help in paying for land, the appropriation for which, made in 1903, failed to materialize.

COLORADO SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF AND THE BLIND

HISTORICAL

The "Colorado Institute for Deaf Mutes" was founded in 1874, while the state was yet a territory, the Blind Department being added in 1883. There were present on the opening day six pupils, the home of the school being a small frame building long since torn down. Up to the present time some 633 deaf persons and 266 blind have been enrolled as pupils, the number of both in attendance the present session (1915-1916) being 209. The buildings now number twelve, with a total valuation, including equipment, of over $430,000.

CHARACTER OF THE SCHOOL

The Colorado School for the Deaf is, as the name implies, a school pure and simple. It was established in accordance with the purpose of the state to give every child within her boundary capable of taking it, a common school education. It is not in any sense an "asylum" or "home" for the afflicted, it is not a hospital for the care and treatment of eyes and ears, and it is not a place for the detention and care of the imbecile. A child so unsound physically as to require constant care, or so backward mentally as to make no progress in the literary department, cannot be retained in the school.

COURSE OF STUDY

The course of study for the deaf covers about the same ground as that of the public schools of the state. The blind, to whom language presents no difficulty, are given a very thorough high school course. To secure the best results in both instances it is necessary that the child be entered as soon as it becomes of school age, and that the attendance be regular and continuous throughout the entire course.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

In the Blind Department the methods are those approved by the best schools of the country. New York Point is used in the greater part of the literary work and in music, but all are taught to write script and operate typewriters.

In the Deaf Department all new pupils are placed in oral classes, where the attempt is made to teach them to speak and read the lips. Those who have learned to talk before losing their hearing, and some of those born deaf do well under this method, and such are kept in the oral department during their entire stay here. All school work with these pupils is done orally, so there is no danger of their forgetting how to talk as some parents fear. There are, however, some deaf children who can never learn to speak well enough to make it of practical value, and these are taught by the use of the manual alphabet and by writing, with recourse to the sign language only when necessary.

HOW THEY ANNOUNCED THE GOOD NEWS

NOTE:—The Poultry Association at the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind has six stations of 30 hens each and eight Philo coops of six hens each. On November 27, for the first time since the work started this fall (1916), eggs were found in all the stations and coops.

TRADES

In addition to the work in the literary department, the school undertakes to give each pupil such a knowledge of some trade as may be a help in gaining a livelihood after graduation. To this end, from one to three hours per day through the entire course is spent in the shops under competent instructors, and while the training given is necessarily incomplete, it goes far toward preparation for life work. The trades taught at present are, for the blind boys, piano tuning, broom and mattress-making, chair-caning, carpet and hammock-weaving; for the deaf boys, carpentry, printing, shoe-making, painting, and elementary gardening. All girls have regular instruction in sewing, knitting, crocheting, and such general housework as is involved in the care of their own rooms. All older girls, both deaf and blind, have lessons in cooking under a trained instructor.

TERMS OF ADMISSION

All deaf and blind persons, of sound mind and body, between the ages of six and twenty-one years, actual residents of Colorado, are entitled to admission to the school free of charge. This includes all those whose hearing or sight is so impaired as to prevent them from obtaining an education in the public schools. Tuition, board and washing, medicines and medical attendance, books and apparatus used in teaching—in short, everything is furnished free of charge except clothing and traveling expenses. In cases of absolute poverty, the respective counties assume the expense of traveling and clothing. While no persons are taken into the school for the purpose of giving medical treatment, all children coming to us are examined by a specialist and treatment is given wherever it is needed. The sick have the very best care and attention.

SESSIONS

The school opens in September on the first Wednesday after Labor day, and closes on the first Wednesday of the following June, thus giving the pupils nine months at the school and three months at home each year. All pupils must be promptly removed at the close of the session.

GENERAL REMARKS

As has been said before, the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind is not an asylum or a hospital for the care of afflicted children. Persons desirous of entering children should carefully observe the following:

First—A child once entered is expected to remain until the close of the session, and cannot be withdrawn without the consent of the Superintendent. Pupils withdrawn without his consent forfeit the right to the privileges of the school unless permitted to return by special action of the Board of Trustees. This, of course, does not apply to those who may prove ineligible because of physical or mental deficiency. Such pupils must be removed as soon as the deficiency is established beyond question.

Second—All pupils expecting to attend the school should be sent promptly on the opening day, and those not so entered, except for such reasons as may be deemed valid by the Superintendent, shall be denied admission until the opening of the next year.

Third—All children should, if possible, be vaccinated before entering.

Fourth—Parents must furnish postage in all cases, and may hear from their children in proportion to the amount furnished. The session lasts about forty weeks. Parents sending us about fifty cents (50 cts.) may hear from their children once a week, ten letters and thirty postals. Those who do not furnish postage will not hear except in the case of illness, when a report is made daily till the child is out of danger.

Fifth—A contingent fee of $5 must be deposited in every case to purchase such articles of clothing and shoes, etc., likely to be needed during the session. A strict account will be kept of all expenditures and an itemized statement made at the close of the school year. Clothing or shoes may be sent from home or purchased by us here, but nothing will be furnished without the cash beforehand, except in the case of county pupils.

Sixth—All clothing should be good quality and well made, with buttons sewed on tightly. Good shoes are cheapest. Woolen underwear or woolen stockings are not needed unless the child be very delicate. In no case purchase so-called fleece-lined underwear. It does not wash well. A good quality of balbriggan is best.

Our children romp and play a great deal, as all healthy children do, and are consequently very hard on clothing. All articles should be plainly marked. The best way is to sew the name in turkey red, which will last as long as the garment.

Seventh—Parents will be expected to pay for property wantonly destroyed by their children. We find that nothing makes children so careful as to know that the parent is held responsible for their carelessness, and parents are as much interested as we are in raising their children to a right appreciation of their responsibilities in life.

Eighth—While we are always glad to have parents visit their children, they cannot be entertained at the school. Parents are at liberty to have their children stay down town with them over night, but not to interfere with the class work when it can be helped.

Ninth—All packages sent should be fully prepaid, and, if you wish receipt acknowledged, should be sent in care of the Superintendent. All letters to pupils should be addressed directly to them in care of the school.

Tenth—No attention will be paid to any complaint or any communication of any kind not addressed to the Superintendent or Board of Trustees. All money should be sent by express, money order or registered letter directly to the Superintendent, who will at once acknowledge receipt of same.

Eleventh—Teachers are sent out to the most important points at the opening and close of the school to assist the pupils in making changes and accompany them to school.

Twelfth—Please bear in mind that the school is more than a quarter of a mile from the nearest depot, and a full mile from two of them. Street cars run within a block of the main building.
